How do your Safety Representatives “Keep up to Date”?

Effective Consultation and communication on Work Health and Safety is an essential part of a dynamic Work Health and Safety System. Trained Safety Representatives are an essential component of formal consultative processes.

A WorkSafe Accredited 5 day Training course equips Safety Representatives with the essential skills and knowledge to perform their roles and gives them the authority to assist with ensuring safe and compliant workplaces.

Section 33 of the Occupational Health and Safety act defines one of the ongoing responsibilities of Safety Representatives is to “Keep ...informed...as to health and safety information “and section 19 requires employers to provide” training” to employees relevant “to the functions performed by employees...”

For those Safety Representatives who have completed the full 5 days of training, CTS recommend that if they have been re-elected at the end of their 2 years they attend the 2 day refresher course.

CTS now offer employers an additional ONE DAY Safety and Health Representative Refresher Course that covers essential items of Legislation, Hazard Management, Communication and Resolving Safety Issues. This course is designed to revisit the essentials of the safety Representatives roles and give them the opportunity to practice those skills.
